

Building Permit Application Fees and Charges

The fees for any application shown below must be paid upon submission

Estimated value of building work as determined by the local authority.

Most fees are based on the value of the building work. To ensure the fees are paid equally for all builders (including owner-builders) the Building Regulations 2012 has specified that the sum of all relevant components add up to the estimated value of the building work. The relevant components are:

- a. All goods (including manufactured goods forming part of the work); and
- b. Labour; and
- c. Services necessary; and
- d. Fees payable;
- e. Overheads to be met; and
- f. Profit margin.

Building Permit Application Fee

Building fees are set by the Building Regulations 2012 and are calculated as a percentage of the contract value or estimated value (including the GST) of the building work.
